The Philos Win With Four Firsts

Excelsiors Win Two Debates—Eurekans First In Reading.

The intersociety contests closed April 11, with the Philomatheans in the lead. That society took four first places, the Excelsiors two, and the Eurekans one.

The contests were very interesting this year. Each society representative deserves special mention. There was lots of pep and a friendly spirit among the societies. The town people attended better this year than ever before and the programs were enjoyed by all who were present.

The contests opened April 9, with music by each of the three societies. The first contest was a debate on the question, Resolved: That government ownership of railroads is superior to private ownership. Frances Holliday and Forrest Brown representing the Excelsior Literary Society debated on the affirmative. John Robison and Pearl Bryant, of the Philomathean Society, debated on the negative. The debate was very close, the closest ever held in Maryville Normal. The judges decided 526-524 in favor of the Excelsiors. Frances Holliday ranked first and Pearl Bryant second.

Mrs. Eugene Bird, representing the Eurekan Society, was given first place in reading. Mrs. Bird read the "Last Leaf" by O. Henry. Laveta McClanahan, of the Excelsior Society was awarded second place. Her selection was "The Lost Word" by Van Dyke. Dale Hulet, representing the Philomathean Society gave "The Man Without a Country" by Hale.

On Thursday evening Mr. Osburn and Ralph Yehle opened the program with a violin duet consisting of two numbers. Immediately afterwards the debaters took their places. The subject of the debate was, resolved: That a League of Nations will be a guarantee against further wars.

The Philomatheans debated on the affirmative. Their representatives were Vivian Seat and Clifford Clark. The Eurekans were represented on the negative by Helen Dean and Ruth Jones. The decision was in favor of the affirmative by a score of 471-437. Vivian Seat received the highest score and Helen Dean was second.

President Richardson is now at work on the program for the summer sessions, the first term of which opens April 24. Certain static courses are offered each term and these, of course, will be given during the summer. In general, it is the policy of the school in its summer terms to take care especially of all those students who are seeking approved grades or who are candidates for the degree, or any of the diplomas offered by the institution. Required subjects for these, as usual, will be found on the program. In the various departments, courses additional to those usually offered will be selected from the following:

Bettie Gex of Graham visited the Normal, April 1.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS BANQUET AT NORMAL.

The twelfth annual banquet of the Maryville Commercial Club was held April 8 in the library. There were one hundred and seventy men present.

Several important talks were given, the main one being that of Ray Emry, secretary of Commercial Club at Creston, Iowa, who gave an analysis of the development of the community plan at his home in Jefferson County, Iowa. Others who spoke during the evening were G. R. Ellison, G. A. Pickens, President Ira Richardson, Mayor W. O. Garrett, Rev. Cox, G. L. Wilfley, A. A. Jeffrey, and Dean G. H. Colbert.

President Richardson delivered an address on "The Normal School and the Commercial Club." He brought out the fact that our institution is not a mere "school" but a "college" because it is one of the five leading educational institutions in the state. He also extended to every citizen of this community an informal invitation to inspect the building.

Dean G. H. Colbert spoke on "Why Every Citizen Should be a Member of the Commercial Club."

During the program a folk dance was given by Mabel Raines and Ruth Miller, and throughout the banquet the Schumacher orchestra furnished music.

The banquet was prepared by the Y. W. C. A. and the girls of the foods class. It was served by the girls and boys of the Y. W. and Y. M. Laura Curfman being chairman of the social committee had charge of the banquet and the great success of the affair showed faithful work on her part. Much praise is due Miss Helwig, Miss Anthony, Mrs. Perrin and the girls and boys who helped make it a success.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

The students of the Normal were given a musical treat, April 8, during the Assembly hour. Mrs. Robinson sang, Mrs. Schnabel played the violin, and Miss Ola Smith the piano. The entire program was more enjoyed by the students, than any assembly program we have had this year.

Andrey Benson and Clarence Knight, both of Grant City were granted a marriage license March 21. Miss Benson has been teaching the eighth grade at Grant City the past year.

Are You Coming for Field Meet?

Be Sure to Get Your Contestants Properly Entered.

The Annual Field Day and Literary Contests of the Northwest Missouri High School Association, will be held at the Maryville Normal, May 9-10, 1919. There will be contests in debate, song, reading, essay and extemporaneous speaking, in addition to the field and track contests.

The sub-district contests to determine the representatives of the various divisions of the district, are being planned at the present time and as soon as they are held and the winners reported, the detailed program will be completed.

Entry blanks for the athletic contests will be mailed April 16. These entries must be in the hands of H. P. Swinehart, corresponding secretary of the association, by May 2. Three copies of each essay submitted must be in the hands of Mr. Swinehart by April 25.

Friday evening, May 9 the final debate of the series now in progress will be held to determine the championship of the district. On the same evening there will be the contest in extemporaneous speaking. The contestants will be the winners in the sub-district contests. They will choose their subjects from a list submitted to them at the time of the contest.

On Saturday afternoon, May 10, the field and track events will be held. The schools are divided into three classes according to their enrollment. A championship cup is given to each class. There will also be a relay cup for each class. The individual winners will receive gold and silver medals.

The meet last year was a great success and a much larger and better meet is expected this year. Among the new entries will be Trenton, Liberty, Excelsior Springs and Cameron.

The records of the Association have stood for several years but some of them are expected to fall this year.

Why can't it be your school that lowers them?

Saturday evening, the reading, oratory and song contests will be held. The contestants will be the winners of the sub-district contests in these events. The readings are

THE PHILOS WIN WITH FOUR FIRSTS

A vocal solo by Herbert Pugh followed the debate.

In the contest in oratory, Elizabeth Leet represented the Eurekans, the subject of her oration being The Road to Tomorrow. Leo Nicholls of the Excelsiors gave The American Spirit. He was followed by John Robison, a Philomathean whose subject was Outward Bound. John Robison won first place; Elizabeth Leet and Leo Nicholls tied for second.

The debate Friday evening was on the question, Resolved: That the formation of a National Labor Party would be for the best interests of the country. Iva Ward and Hester DeNeen, representing the Excelsior Society, debated on the affirmative. John Ham and Joe Ferguson, of the Eurekan Society, debated on the negative. The decision of the judges was in favor of the affirmative.

Tessie Degan, representing the Philomatheans, was awarded first place in the extemporaneous speaking. Etha Henderson, representing the Eurekans, was given second place. Minnie Turner, of the Excelsior Society, took third place.

Mattie Dykes, a representative of the Philomathean Society, was given first place in the essay contest. She wrote on the "Reconstruction of a Sound American Citizenship." Second place was awarded to Hester DeNeen of the Excelsior Society. Third place was given to a representative of the Eurekan Society, Mayhew Saville.

The musical numbers Friday night were: Selections by the Presbyterian Orchestra and by the Siren Glee Club and a piano solo by Pearl Bryant.

limited to 10 minutes, and shall be chosen from standard authors. The selections in the song contest should represent music in the schools rather than the work of private voice teachers.

At the contests Saturday evening the result of the essay contest will be announced.

IN MARCH.

The songs of larks and robins
Are floating through the air,
Their notes so full of gladness
Are sounding everywhere.

The Crocus and the Tulips
Push upward toward the day;
The cosy pussy willow
Has donned its mantle gray.

The skies are ever shifting
From blue to leaden gray,
The sharp, shrill winds are whisking
The winter months away.

SOPHOMORE-JUNIORS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

In the final game of the class Basketball tournament, April 6, the Sophomore-Junior team defeated the High School team 39-26, thereby winning the championship of the school.

The tournament started Thursday, April 2, when the High School players challenged the College Freshmen to a game. The High School won, 0-23.

The Sophomore-Junior team immediately challenged the High School. Due to scarcity of players the Sophomores were forced to call on Dad Scarlett, a Junior, for help. This made the teams more evenly matched for both had two men from the regular Bear Cat line-up.

Those who played on the Sophomore-Junior team were Miller, Halasey, Ramsey, Ferguson, Scarlett and Robison. The high school team was made up of Ham, Richards, Summers, Clark, Brown, Pugh and Nelson; the freshmen to play were Bland, Egley, Yehle, Puckett and Faris.

SOPHOMORES HAVE PARTY.

The Sophomore class gave a party April 3, in honor of the two girls' basketball teams and the first and second teams of the boys. It was held in the training school.

The room was decorated with flowers and the school colors, green and white. An indoor track meet, followed by table games furnished entertainment for the evening. Victrola music also added to the enjoyment of all. After the games, refreshments were served.

Loren Egley and Forrest Brown, together with their partners tied for first place in the track meet with ten points each. A race between the two was held, the winner being presented with a beautiful silver cup.

Miss Brunner, Class Sponsor, and John Robison, Class president, received the guests.

MISS MILLER ATTENDS A. C. A. MEETING IN ST. LOUIS.

Miss Miller attended the thirty-fifth general meeting of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae which was held in St. Louis March 31-April 3. The Alumnae of forty colleges and several foreign universities were present. The Fifth District Normal was the only Normal school that was represented.

The work of the A. C. A. is confined to the problems found in education. It will aid the government in carrying forward educational reconstruction measures. The four big measures that the government has asked the association to take an active part in are: prevention of illiteracy; of minor diseases in childhood; of social diseases, and to aid in establishing community centers where boys and girls, men and women may find wholesome recreation.

The association, also, decided that it would make a study of the following: the minimum salary for teachers; equal pay for men and women teachers; and equal opportunity for promotion.

All women, who have a B. S. degree, from our Normal may become associate members of this Association.

Lois Goodpasture entertained at Hillside Farm, March 29-30. Her guests were: Veturia Faubion, Elsie Stonhouse, Gladys Bookman and Elvira Ward.

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES.

Philomatheans Entertain.

The Philomathean Literary Society entertained the Excelsior Society and faculty members, Wednesday afternoon, April 2, in the ladies' parlor. The program consisted of two readings by Mrs. Metzler and a vocal duet by Dale Hulet and Vivian Seat. The remainder of the time was spent in conversational games. The special topics for conversation were: Pie; My first cigar; First love affair; The extraordinary impetuosity of eight o'clockers and jokes.

Punch was served, and all departed declaring the hour had been entirely too short.

Excelsior Notes.

The Excelsior Literary Society had a very good meeting April 8, in room 216. The program was full of "pep" and consisted of these numbers:

Reading .....Iva Sparks
Duet.....Jessie Fannon, Stella Brown
Reading .....Clarissa Whaley
Songs and Yells .....Society

Eurekan Notes.

The Eurekans, at their regular meeting, Tuesday, April 2, had an informal debate on the labor question. Helen Dean took the affirmative and Ruth Jones the negative.

After the debate Bill Richards took charge and a rousing "pep" meeting followed. Please do not overlook the fact that "Big Bill" is our leader. There is none better.

Eurekan Assembly.

The Eurekans gave a very clever program in assembly April 1. It was a pleasant surprise to every one. The program was:

Piano Solo .....Anna Nicholls
The Indian of yesterday—

Alyce Leeper.

Juanita—Helen Dean and Mary Condon.

Hiawatha's Wooing—Etha Henderson.

From the Land of the Sky-Blue Waters.....Mary Margaret Richey

The Indian of Today—Jessie Z. Murphy.

Piano Solo .....Maye Rust

Indian Dance—Lou Mutz, Mary Condon, Laura Cuffman, Mabel Curnutt, Ruth Jones, Mrs. Bird and Anna Nicholls.

The entire program was Indian in its nature. The music had the characteristic "tum-tum-tum" of Indian music. The reading and the dance were given in costume. The dance was a "howling" success; in fact, the whole assembly was successful.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Warrensburg evidently thought that the Maryville Normal had been blown away. The Warrensburg Normal paper says, "The Maryville State Normal School was hard hit Saturday, March 15 when a storm struck the town. Part of the main building was unroofed and the laboratory was almost destroyed. The power and heating plant was wrecked."

Well, we were "hard hit" but not quite so hard as all that. Our power and heating plant is far from being wrecked, and as for our laboratory, (by the way we have more than one), Mr. Wilson continues to have classes in there quite as usual.

The editor of Spontaneous Combustion in the Park Stylus evidently has his quotations mixed. The quotation "A man's grasp should exceed his reach, or what is Heaven for?" belongs to Browning, not to Ibsen.

The following witticism printed in the Tarkio "Phoenix" might apply to us:

"I thought you took French last semester?

I did, but the faculty encored me."

"The grade one makes on an exam. varies inversely with the square of the distance to your neighbor."—The Westminster Fortnightly.

Here's to the faculty,
Long may they live;
Even as long as the lessons they give.—The Park Stylus.

Write, write, write,
On plans of lessons to be;
And oh that I dared to utter
The thots that arise in me.—The Normal Student, Warrensburg.

GIRLS' BASKET BALL GAMES.

The final game between the Yellows and Whites, played April 3, resulted in a score of 25-22 in favor of the Yellows. The line-up: Yellows: Forwards, Goodpasture and Dean; jumping center, Appleby; running center, Murphy; guards Condon and Shrock.

Whites: Forwards, Coler and Stewart; jumping center, Ward; running center, Neal; guards, Walker and Danner.

Dean injured her finger and was replaced by Condon as forward. Bookman replaced Condon at guard.

Walker was put out on technicals and Pearl Neal took her place, Esther Neal going to center.

The Girls' basket ball teams played nineteen games, five of which were open games. The Yellows won ten games, the Whites nine. The Yellows total points were 469. The Whites total points were 371. The largest score made was 55 to 12, March 13th. The smallest score made was 8 to 4, March 24th.

Miss Boggs, coach of the team says: "The team work of the Whites is stronger but the Yellows are fortunate enough to have the strongest forward in the school, with the tallest girl for jumping center—a combination hard to beat. The Whites are to be congratulated on being but one game and 98 points behind.

It has been a most interesting contest and the girls are to be commended on their spirit of fair play.

We wish to express our appreciation to the student body, for their support during the open games. It certainly helped us to win."

Herbert to Earl: What is that poetry Etha Henderson is reading?

Earl: You simp, didn't you ever hear of Hiawatha before?

THE STROLLER. A NOVEL.

Preface.

It has always been the Stroller's ambition to write a novel. He will confess that he has made an effort several times, but the manuscript has always been returned with thanks. Therefore, it is with much humility he makes his bow as an author in the Green and White. In so far as possible, the author has tried to follow the rules of the old masters, even to the quotations as chapter headings. Any deadness of style, therefore, is from this source.

The book is affectionately dedicated to Mrs. A. J. Cauffield who first suggested the idea to the author.

Chapter I.

"First Student: 'Why is Mr. Swinehart's head like heaven?'"

Second Student: 'Gosh, I don't know, why?'"

Third Student: 'Because in that bright and shining place, there is no parting.'"

The Woman-in-the-Upstairs-Window.

Augustus Mileback set his heavy suitcase down in the lower hall of the Normal school with such a bang that Prexy thought another cyclone had hit the school and came rushing out to find out the trouble. He found a lanky youth limply wiping his sweating brow (by which, former students may know it was summer and Augustus has just tried out the long walk for the first time.) When Prexy got thru with him, he was signed up for four classes under Mr. Swinehart and he discovered ere the summer was out that there were worse things than Long Walks. Poor boy—he has since married, but no one can say he was not well prepared.

Chapter II.

"When a man stands in front of a mirror on the first floor locker room and fixes his front hair before he puts on his hat, do not wait to see if he powders his nose."—The Tatler.

The next fall, Augustus came back to the Normal. But he did not improve his lot by getting into education classes—especially psychology. Try tho he might, he never got enough of mental science to understand why it did not shock all Normalities to see Dad Scarlett and Pearl Bryant stealing a ride on the back of a truck. Nor could he see why folks laughed when he put the accent on the second syllable of Normalites rather than on the third, tho he did say there were more folks around who didn't seem normal, than did.

Chapter III.

"The hours I spent on my note book Are as a string of words to me; I spell them o'er with sighs and groans, Biology! Biology!"

Each 'i' a scratch, each 'o' a blur, We ink them in, and then murmur What earthly use is this stuff fur— Biology! Biology!

And when at last we think we're done, We find we've only just begun; It makes your brain feel like a ton Of Biology! Biology!"

—Park Stylus.

Term after term, Augustus Mileback returned to Maryville. Many trials he endured. He drew frogs and said Mendel's law in his sleep; he learned the re-action of Sulfuric acid on metals and Mr. Wilson never even called for it; he spent a miserable life trying to make every teacher believe he was doing exactly as he was told; he did more work dodging work than he believed could be done; the only reason he never grew wings was that the flu epidemic came along and left him too miserably weak to support them.

But all trials cease at last and one day, Augustus, dressed up in a cap and gown, but feeling more as tho he were dressed in a cap and bells, stood up to receive his degree. Augustus was now ready to teach school.

Chapter IV.

"School teachers are wise enough but never rich."—Dr. Davis.

For many anxious weeks, Augustus Mileback sought a job. But it seemed that knowledge was a drug on the market. For information which had cost him $40 a month for four long years, Missouri communities wanted to pay him $60.

One day the janitor of a big office building found Augustus crying, and before the incident closed, Augustus was to begin work the next morning as assistant to the comforter at a salary of (oh, well, since it's only a story anyhow, let's make it $300 a month.)

But that night when Augustus went home, he found a letter from Mr. Hawkins telling him about a good job in Arkansas. Augustus went there and became an immediate and popular success. Thus it is that Missouri lost a good teacher.

A MYSTERY REVEALED.

At the beginning of the second semester, eight fellows took rooms in a certain house on Third street. As a result a fraternity or club was organized and a name adopted. Of the eight charter members, seven remain. The absent one has been sick at his home for weeks.

April 1, a new member moved into the house and of course was duly initiated. Little did he dream of being adopted so promptly and so thoroughly.

The club is proud of its records and they challenge any such organization in school to equal them; in scholastic standing, athletic standing, social standing or in any other phase of school life. Their records follow:

Three letter men and captain in basket ball.

Four men out for team.

One letter man and captain in foot ball.

Two men out for team.

Five members entered in the literary contests.

One songster.

One social king and style plate (S. B. C.)

Every man a member of a literary society.

One member quite prominent in the contests is also president of the college sophomore class and is on the student council.

This but upholds the old contention that fraternities are the life of the school.

Velma Frost of Pickering and Marlon Parkhurst of Davis City were granted a marriage license in St. Joseph March 21.

Helen Drake, a former Normal student and her sister, Winifred Drake, visited the school March 14. Miss Drake is teaching in Grant City this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McClintock are going to housekeeping in Kansas City as soon as he is discharged. Mr. McClintock expects to go into the grain business.

Alva Hill who has been in the government service in Washington, D. C., is now at Rockfort, Ill., doing clerical work in the disbursing office at Camp Grant.

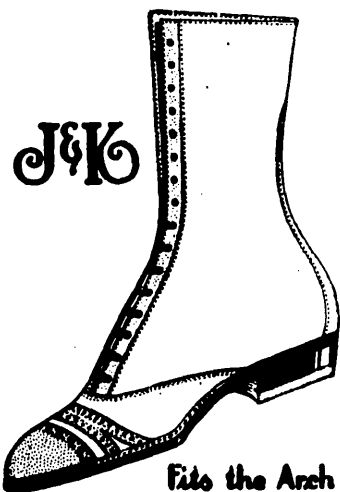

Vetura Faubion and Elsie Stonhouse entertained a few friends with a party April 6, at the home of Mr. J. D. Ford. The guests were: Elvira Ward, Lois Goodpasture, Iva Ward, and Messrs Harold Sawyers, Stanley Crockett, Herbert Pugh, Clifford Clark, Vern Manley and Glenn Guthrie.

Imogene Watson assisted by Alyce Leeper entertained the Perrin Hall girls, Forrest Brown, Leo Nichols and Glenn Britton, Monday evening March 24, at Perrin Hall. The evening was spent in conversation, also several favorite Victor selections were enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Cauffield went to Burlington Junction March 14 to judge a high school debate between Ravenwood and Burlington Junction. The question was: "Resolved, that the formation of a national labor party would be for the best interests of the country." Ravenwood, speaking on the affirmative, won the debate.

Vera May Shipps and Fay Corrough were married at the Shipps home in Maryville, March 27.

Mrs. Corrough attended the Normal the fall quarter of this year. Fay Corrough is also a former student. He was attached to the 356th Infantry, 89th Division and was wounded in France last November. He will return to Camp Dodge after a Thirty day furlough.
